Re: Important Information for monitoring water consumption

Dear DRWU Subscriber,

We are excited about our latest technology with our meter reads. We have switched to a Badger meter read system. This system is all done over the computer. We no longer have to have our Maintenance staff go out to read your meter.

We will eventually have every subscriber connected with a Badger cellular radio.

I am attaching information so you can now look at your own water account. First of all: put this address into the address bar into your browser: <https://eyeonwater.ca/signup>, then follow the attached instructions.

All members of your family will share the same log-in information – same password and same account number.

You can now monitor your water consumption on your phone – Download the app – EyeonWater (the app says “EyeOnWater Badger Meter” and is a blue water drop in a white box).

If you are having problems signing up on your computer or your phone, please call the office.

Thank you and good luck !
